DESCRIPTION:

- A. Obuda University (OU) in Budapest Hungary is a higher education institution providing strength in research spanning a diverse set of intellectual disciplines and applications within the fields of engineering; including computer science, applied mathematics, electrical, mechanical, mechatronics, materials sciences and technologies, safety and security sciences, light industry, environmental, industrial design, technical management, business administration management and teacher training. The BSc, MSc and PhD faculties offer theoretically founded, information intensive, practice oriented trainings covering the knowledge, tools and methods required for fundamental understanding.
- B. Kyrgyz-Turkish Manas University is a public higher education institution, founded by the Agreement "On the establishment of the Kyrgyz-Turkish Manas University in the capital of Kyrgyzstan - Bishkek" signed by the Government of the Kyrgyz Republic and the Government of the Republic of Türkiye on September 30, 1995, in Izmir, Türkiye. Since its foundation, the Kyrgyz-Turkish Manas University has considered its main responsibility to provide high-quality educational services to representatives of Turkic-speaking states. The aim of our university is to help Turkic youth equipped with a modern and contemporary education system to become conscious, self-sufficient and responsible individuals. One of the priorities of the university is to educate the youth who would contribute to the world's science primarily to the Turkish Civilization, while protecting their cultural and individual values on the way to universality. Our university with its academic staff and students has adopted the motto of carrying the cooperation in the fields of language, science, history, literature, culture, art, economy and sports to the highest levels by producing humanitarian values?
- B. The parties wish to enter into this MoU to promote cooperation between them and to strengthen innovative collaboration in mutually acceptable fields of biotechnology, industry 4.0, environmental protection engineering, production design and materials engineering, economics and management. In addition to endorsing the development of programs and activities through our cooperative relationship, we wish to collaborate in joint PhD programs and research activities as we strive to raise funds, especially EU research funds as well as tenders in order to improve our reputation as successful higher education institutions. Moreover, the parties wish to enter into this MoU to further develop our exchange programs of faculty, graduate students and postdoctoral students and to promote joint academic publications in recognition of the importance of educational, cultural and scientific exchanges between international research institutions.

THE PARTIES AGREE
